The Education Challenge

By Rev. Lawrence Peebles SCSSAR President

In my remarks following my installation as your state president, I talked about the why of being in SAR. Part of my personal why relates to sharing the story of the American Revolution. For that reason, I want to offer an education challenge to each chapter.

Our state society offers awards and scholarships to students and teachers with various contests related to the study of the American Revolutionary Period. The problem is that very few if any enter these contests on the state level. That is probably because few people outside of SCSSAR or even within it know they exist. How do we change that?

I challenge each chapter to appoint a person or a team that is willing to educate themselves on these various awards and scholarships. These need to be men with interest in education as well as having contacts in the local school systems (public and private). It's not about us dictating what happens in the classroom, but it is about coming along side to supplement and complement what they are doing already. For example, could a teacher use our award to encourage students on an already assigned paper to encourage students on an already assigned paper?

If chapters truly promote this project, the state would be overwhelmed with submissions. Thus, each chapter needs its own competition so that only the best ones are forwarded to the state. Chapters with the resources could offer their own monetary rewards.

American's 250th birthday is the perfect time to emphasize these awards. Nor is this just about having more entries in the 2023 contests. This challenge is multi-year. It needs time to ramp up. We have to take time to find the right people and convince them we have no agenda other than educating our children and youth about the American Revolution.

2022 Annual Meeting: Election of Officers

Election of officers is the highlight of our Annual Meeting. This year was no exception as the nominating committee chairman, Dan Woodruff, presented the nominees approved by the Board of Governors and offered several amendments to accommodate changes desired by the candidates. All amendments were approved by unanimous consent.

With no nominations from the floor, the President followed State Bylaws, which allow a voice vote (rather than ballot vote) on uncontested nominations. With a loud vote of "aye" with no objection, the 2022 nominees became State Officers elect. Presidentelect Lawrence Peebles addressed the assembly with his incoming State President's remarks.

After the lunch recess the South Atlantic District Vice President General Pat Niemann was able to join us via Zoom from Orlando, Florida, where he was attending the FLSSAR Annual Meeting. VPG Niemann installed newly elected President Lawrence Peebles, Senior Vice President Ted Walker, and all other State Officers present. Those installed were:

Treasurer: Gordon McCay

Midlands Vice President: Walter Witherspoon

Piedmont Vice President: Rick Morris Upstate Vice President: Eric Barnhill Registrar: Bill Wilson

Recording Secretary: Peter Widell After his installation, past President

David Smith presented President Peebles with the State President's neck ribbon and medallion, the State Gavel, and the traditional book Roster of South Carolina Patriots in the Revolution, written and donated by Compatriot Bobby Gilmore Moss in 1984. This book has been passed from SCSSAR outgoing President to the new President for 38 years. Congratulations President Peebles!

The actual meeting minutes, including all business conducted, will be available on the SCSSAR website after they are corrected at the July BOG meeting. Amendments to the by-laws were referred back to committee.

Midlands Chapters Honor Founding Compatriots at Grave-Marking Service

COLUMBIA — Under the auspices of the State Society Grave Marking Committee, two Midlands chapters, Col. Thomas Taylor of Columbia and Godfrey Dreher of Lexington, dedicated compatriot grave markers honoring three founding members of the society Friday, May 13, at Columbia's First Presbyterian Church.

Scheduled to precede the State Society's Annual Membership Meeting, 45 members and guests honored the memory of Fitz William McMaster, Fitz Hugh McMaster and Rufus Newton Lowrance, who joined with 18 other men of substance in founding the South Carolina Society on April 18, 1889.

Guests included Gov. Henry McMaster, great-great nephew and great nephew of F.W. and F.H. McMaster; his wife, First Lady, Peggy McMaster; and brother, William McMaster. President David Smith represented the State Society, and his son, "and driver," Joseph Smith represented the SC Society Children of the American Revolution. Vice Regent, Alice Lamb Caskey, graced the event on behalf of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Other SCSSAR leaders attending included Senior Vice President Ted Walker, Piedmont Regional Vice President Rick Morris, Upstate Regional Vice President Eric Barnhill, Bucky Haas, Genealogist, and Bill Wilson, Registrar and President of the co-hosting Godfrey Dreher Chapter.

Godfrey Dreher Chaplain Henry Ham delivered the ceremony's invocation, and Col. Thomas Taylor Chapter President Chip Griffin led the ensemble in pledges to our national, state, and SAR flags.

Midlands Regional Vice President, Walter "Buddy" Witherspoon presented greetings from the State Society and led attendees in reciting the American Creed. Gov. McMaster addressed the membership, recounting his family's memories of the founding compatriots and their contributions to the State and the Society.

State Society Grave Marking Committee Chairman Ralph Welton, and Regional Vice President Buddy Witherspoon, conducted the ceremonial dedication of markers for grave sites of the three founders, followed by Chaplain Ham's benediction and the SAR recessional.

After the ceremony, members toured the church's historic graveyard, where rest our Compatriots, numerous Revolutionary War heroes, veterans of later conflicts, governors, statesmen, the parents of President Woodrow Wilson, and many others who left their marks on American history.

The chapters and the State Grave Marking Committee especially appreciate the efforts of Col. Thomas Taylor Chapter Vice President Rusty DePass, and the generosity of Dr. Derek Thomas and the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church in providing its beautiful Smith Chapel for the service.

David Smith — President's Report: Annual Meeting 2022

Joseph Glavitsch, President of the Col. Robert Anderson Chapter: A responsibility that I have is that of a delegate to the state quarterly meetings to represent our chapter. This past Saturday I attended the annual SCSSAR meeting in Columbia.

The outgoing President, David Smith, opened the meeting with an address to the delegates.

I was impressed with the points that he made, and I wanted to share his address with you. At my request he sent it to me, and I forward it to you unedited. I hope you will read it and find it as informative and interesting as I did.

Regards, Joe Glavitsch President Col. Robert Anderson Chapter

President David Smith

First, I want to thank those men who served at my request as committee chairmen and committee members. Thank you, to those men who volunteer above the duties of their office to facilitate our meetings. I specifically mention David Desmarais and Bill Wilson. And thanks to Buddy Witherspoon and the men of the Midlands Region for manning our registration table.

It has been my pleasure and honor to serve as the State President of an organization as important as the Sons of the American Revolution.

Our State Society has increased in membership since January of 2021 when we had 741 members. Today we have 811 members, and many applications for membership in South Carolina are being worked on by Chapter, State and National Genealogists and Registrars.

Over the past couple of years the average age of a new applicant to the South Carolina Society has been 59 years old.

David Smith

State Officer positions, the average age of a State Officer is 70.

Over the course of the three meetings held this past year, the State Society's primary governing body, the Board of Governors, or BOG, voted on 14 new items of business. In addition, the Board looked at existing motions that had been previously adopted in years past; three of those were amended, and three were rescinded, or struck down. This past year saw more items of business concluded at three meetings than in any other year in the past 14 years, as recorded in meeting minutes.

The importance of this is that a motion or resolution adopted by the BOG is binding upon the State Society, and it must be complied with unless it is amended or re-

As we watch, a vocal minority of our population is falsely turning wrong into right. Our founding men and women who, throughout our history, have been held in esteem and honor are now cursed. They are trying to turn our founding fathers into malignancies.

The average age of one of our members is 66 years old. Our oldest two members are 101, Compatriots Tom Pigott and Ray Willeford.

We have 20 Chapters in our State Society, divided among five Regions, and overseen by five Regional Vice Presidents. Our largest Chapter is the Major General William Moultrie Chapter in Charleston with 117 members. Our smallest Chapter is Lt. Col. Thomas Lynch here in Columbia with nine members.

The most elderly Chapter is on Hilton Head Island. In the Dr. George Moss Chapter, 37 percent of the members are more than 80 years old. The average age of a Chapter President is 63 years. We have 17

They reduce the sacrifice and bravery of our patriots into a quest for evil oppression, and they've turned monuments of honor and remembrance into rubble and disgrace. They strike from our public buildings the names of our founding heroes — Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, George Washington, Patrick Henry and others. And in many of the public schools and universities, our children are taught that their country was built on a foundation of evil, and that our founders cannot be honored, because they were intrinsically bad people. scinded by the Board of Governors, or at an Annual Meeting. Or, if it is in violation of our State or National Bylaws, or State or Federal Law.

Further, no future motion can be made that conflicts with a previously adopted motion until that previous motion is rescinded or amended. If the BOG adopts a motion that some "thing" must be done, then the job of the State President and State Officers is to ensure that that "thing" either gets done, or if the "thing" turns out to be unworkable or stupid, that the adopted motion is rescinded or amended.

An adopted motion represents the will of a majority of our Membership, and a State President or State Officer cannot simply ignore that decision. It can be brought back for another vote, and changed or thrown out, but the will of the membership can't simply be ignored.

This is why it is vital to the interest of the Chapter to have your Chapter represented, and for your representatives to be vocal at BOG meetings. Every Chapter has two members of the BOG. One is the elected Chapter President, the other is anyone the Chapter wants to send as the second member. If they are both there, then your Chapter gets two votes. If the elected President isn't there, then you just lost one of the two people who can vote.

If five people from a Chapter come to a BOG meeting, but the elected President isn't there, then the Chapter only gets the one vote of their single delegate. No one else from the Chapter can vote in place of the elected President. To get two votes at a Board of Governors Meeting, the Chapter needs their elected President and their delegate. The reason is obvious, the Chapter President knows the most about the needs and desires of his Chapter and the members.

Now, on to the last topic.

You may not have noticed, but our country seems to be changing rather quickly, in ways that you find surprising. As we watch, a vocal minority of our population is falsely turning wrong into right. Our founding men and women who, throughout our history, have been held in esteem and honor are now cursed. They are trying to turn our founding fathers into malignancies.

They reduce the sacrifice and bravery of our patriots into a quest for evil oppression, and they've turned monuments of honor and remembrance into rubble and disgrace. They strike from our public buildings the names of our founding heroes — Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, George Washington, Patrick Henry and others. And in many of the public schools and universities, our children are taught that their country was built on a foundation of evil, and that our founders cannot be honored, because they were intrinsically bad people.

This past year our South Carolina Society rejected these ideas and passed a resolution honoring our founders, and all edifices memorializing these great men. We called on the National Society to follow suit and pass a similar resolution.

No matter, our State Society continues its original work started in 1889. We mark the graves and remember Revolutionary War patriots and those men who founded our State Society, and we mark the graves and remember our deceased fellow compatriots.

Every year, for over 100 years, South Carolina SAR assembles at Revolutionary War sites throughout the state to remember, to talk about, and commemorate what happened nearly 250 years ago. We honor the men and women who advanced our cause of liberty, and we don't dwell on the speculation of what they could have done differently.

We honor our nation's flag and give certificates to families and organizations that fly it properly and with pride. We give medals and awards to our fellow citizens who excel as public servants in fire departments, law enforcement, and emergency medicine; or who demonstrate important acts of outstanding citizenship within our great state.

We sponsor state-wide school competitions and give our money to the young people who win contests directly related to the truth of our founding story. We also recognize the public or private school teacher top cadet in R.O.T.C. or J.R.O.T.C. programs around the state.

The South Carolina State Society is growing, and as we quickly march to our Nation's 250th anniversary my forecast is for accelerated growth as we participate in ever increasing anniversary events throughout the state.

This past year our South Carolina Society rejected these ideas and passed a resolution honoring our founders, and all edifices memorializing these great men. We called on the National Society to follow suit and pass a similar resolution.

who best teaches the Revolutionary era to their students.

Scouting is also recognized, with the State Society honoring the winner of our Eagle Scout contest.

We honor military service and recognize all compatriots who served our country in the Armed Forces. They wear the fourth highest award that the Sons of the American Revolution can present.

We carry that honor of military service to the college and high school Reserve Officer Training Programs by recognizing the I encourage the State and Chapters to take full advantage of this opportunity by simply spreading the word of what we stand for, and letting the public know what we do. We need to be prepared to answer the questions of interested citizens wherever we may be, and we need to stand ready to process an influx of new applications.

Every member of our Society should have great pride in their Patriot lineage, and great pride in being a Compatriot in the South Carolina Sons of the American Revolution.

The sacred rights of mankind are not to be rummaged for among old parchments or musty records. They are written, as with a sun beam, in the whole volume of human nature, by the hand of the divinity itself, and can never be erased or obscured by mortal power.

Mount Ariel Chapter NSDAR Hosts America 250 Program for Greenwood Area

GREENWOOD — The Mount Ariel Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution has taken the lead in sponsoring an "America 250" program in the Greenwood area with a marker dedication service, May 24.

With Greenville Presbyterian Church Cemetery as the setting, Chapter Regent Helen Nazzaro presided. This cemetery, exceptionally well-maintained by the church, is located on the Donalds Highway between Greenwood and Donalds.

Thirty-five Revolutionary War Patriots are interred at Greenville Presbyterian Church Cemetery. Over the period 1775 to 1783, 75 members of the church left home to serve in the War for Independence. As the Cambridge Chapter SAR Secretary read the names of the Patriots interred in the cemetery, Mount Ariel DAR member Laurie Morris, rang the bell for each Patriot.

A dedication and unveiling of the Historic Marker was conducted by Bonnibel Moffat, State Regent, SC Society NSDAR, and Virginia Kelly, Historian for the Mount Ariel Chapter.

A letter from SC Governor Henry McMaster, was read by Dianne T. Culbertson, Past State Regent of the SC Society and a Past Vice President General of the National Society DAR. A Resolution from the Joint Session of the SC House and Senate was presented by Senator Mike Gambrell. Other highlights of the Program included a Proclamation from the Town of Donalds. The audience witnessing the ceremony participated by reciting Pledges to the American and SC Flags, singing the National Anthem led by DAR Member Katie Whatley and the singing of the first stanza of "Faith of our Fathers."

The SC Society 250 Committee, under the leadership of Compatriot Joe Babb, is meeting regularly as plans to develop similar programs progress for commemoration of the 250th Anniversary of the Founding of the United States of America. The key role played in the American Revolution by South Carolina provides real-life drama for this historical narrative.

"[Independence Day] will be the most memorable Epocha, in the History of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated, by succeeding Generations, as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the Day of Deliverance by solemn Acts of Devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with Pomp and Parade, with Shews, Games, Sports, Guns, Bells, Bonfires and Illuminations from one End of this Continent to the other from this Time forward forever more. You will think me transported with Enthusiasm but I am not. I am well aware of the Toil and Blood and Treasure, that it will cost Us to maintain this Declaration, and support and defend these States. Yet through all the Gloom I can see the Rays of ravishing Light and Glory. I can see that the End is more than worth all the Means. And that Posterity will tryumph in that Days Transaction, even altho We should rue it, which I trust in God We shall not."

The Road from Burdell's Plantation to Eutaw Springs

By Charles B. Baxley

Gen. Nathaniel Greene had accomplished the unthinkable as he slowly moved-out his Southern Department Continentals, augmented by militias and state troops from South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia at 4 a.m. on Sept. 8, 1781.

Greene camped only seven miles from the British camp at Eutaw Springs undetected. The Americans moved quietly southeastwards along the Santee River Road (Old Number Six Highway). The first three and one-half miles passed without incident. Greene paused his march and issued refreshments to his troops. A gill of rum to fortify their spirits as they marched towards certain battle at Eutaw Springs.

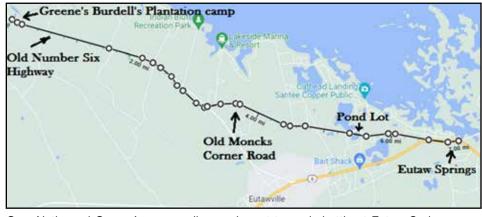

As Greene's army got underway again. A troop of red-coated cavalry followed by light infantry soon appeared in the road ahead. This was British Lt. Col. Alexander Stewart's first patrol in response to two American deserters telling Stewart that Greene was on his way to attack Stewart's camp.

Maj. John Coffin's 50 Volunteers of New York cavalry quickly charged into Greene's van, not realizing that they were the head of Greene's whole army. The British patrol was met by Lt. Col. Henry "Light Horse Harry" Lee's Legion infantry leading Greene's army. The clash in the road was quickly joined by two American units which were riding out of sight on each flank of Greene's advance, "a trap" as it was later described.

Within a few minutes this opening skirmish of the Battle of Eutaw Springs was over. The Americans had killed five British cavalrymen and Light Infantry soldiers and captured 40 more. The remaining British cavalry and their Provincial Light Infantry escaped to harass Greene's forward movement and to report their findings to a surprised Col. Stewart.

The Americans again started their move southeast to the British camp at Eutaw Springs. The noise of the initial skirmish attracted the attention of over 300 British soldiers who were detailed out of camp earlier to forage for sweet potatoes planted by farmers along the Santee River. Food supplies were low in Stewart's camp. About 200 of these foragers came running towards the sound of battle and were quickly rounded up by Greene's extensive cavalry.

With 240 British prisoners without losing a single man, this was a great American victory before the main battle was joined. Greene moved his prisoners to his rear, back to Burdell's Plantation. At three miles from the British camp, Greene lost the element of surprise.

Greene's army resumed its march east towards Eutaw Springs on what is now called the Moncks Corner Road. In about a mile and one-half the road dipped into a dry depression, typical of the topography of the area.

This area is underlain by a layer of limestone, often referred to as Charleston marl. Limestone is easily dissolved by slightly acid water which forms caves, caverns and underground streams. These underground features often collapse into bowl-shaped landforms.

After the engineers first closed the new Santee Cooper dams and the waters began to rise in Lake Marion in 1941, underground streams in the porous limestone backfilled many of these depressions including the depression Greene moved across on his way to attack the now-alarmed Stewart. The trace of the colonial era road can now be seen entering the pond on its west side and exiting of the east side as the modern alignment of the road takes a bow-shaped detour around the pond.

This site and pond will become a part of the SC Liberty Trail's interpretation of the Battle of Eutaw Springs. It is amazing that the colonial road system is extant so tourists can walk in the actual steps of the American Army approaching the Battle. In places along Greene's route this road is still a one-lane dirt road, lined with great oak trees as it would have been in 1781.

Lilly pad covered pond in the background. Cleaning off the pond property started March 30 on the Moncks Corner Road northeast of Eutawville. Members of the newly formed Eutaw Springs Battleground Association, Tom Connor, Harold Donnelly and Doug Doster with David Reuwer of the South Carolina Battleground Preservation Trust made a dent in the job. It is beautiful property owned by the South Carolina Battleground Preservation Trust as a part of the new SC Liberty Trail. We are told that there are alligators in the pond. [Photo by Doug Doster]

The Eutaw Springs Battlefield Association is looking for new members who are interested in helping develop and maintain this often forgotten battleground. For more information please contact Doug Doster at (803) 747-2111 or dosterdouglas@gmail. com.

BEAUFORT — Past Chapter Presidents Joe Riddle and Jody Henson joined Chaplain Tom Burnett and Compatriot Wilson McElveen at the Beaufort History Museum March 12 for a Revolutionary War Living History day.

A demonstration team set up various stations for visitors to interact with demonstrators. Children and adults could drill with muskets, make candy musket cartridges, learn about Beaufort's contribution to the Revolutionary War, sit by a camp fire and experience military camp life, see what soldiers carried, how a doctor cared for wounded and sick soldier, or how to crew a cannon and fire it.

The SC Battleground Preservation Trust Revolutionary War Artillery Demonstration Team, or The 5th Company, 4th South Carolina Regiment (Artillery) is equipped with two, three-pounder grasshopper cannons and two coehorn mortars (owned by the Trust), and provides period volunteer crews and demonstrators.

The Demonstration Team's purpose is to educate, demonstrate and entertain to bring our fight for liberty to life. The Demonstration Team and volunteers support the SCBPT and the South Carolina 250th by being part of: public and private functions; historical events and commemorations. The crew can provide Liberty Event Support for Educational Program for schools, parades, historical events, military and veterans events, by providing the sights and sounds of the Revolutionary War.

Many Chapters might find this information interesting in working with educators and schools in their area to bring in this team of Living Historians from the South Carolina Battle Ground Trust group.

240th anniversary capture of Fort Watson

By Douglas Doster, State Historian Battle of Eutaw Springs Chapter

FORT WATSON INDIAN MOUND SITE — George and Carole Summers organized a commemoration of the capture of Fort Watson from the British on the anniversary of the battle, April 23, 1781.

S.C. Battleground Preservation Trust member and Liberty Trail advisor, Rick Wise, gave a detailed account of the battle to the 20 or more attendees that morning. Monica Williams and her staff at the Santee National Wildlife Refuge assisted in the commemoration.

I announced to the attendees a tour that afternoon of the Fort Motte property owned by Luther Wannamaker of St. Matthews. He had invited James Legg, South Carolina Department of Archaeology, to give a talk on the excavation of Fort Motte that he and Dr. Steve Smith had done some years earlier. He also brought some artifacts from those digs as they are called. About 30 attended.

The question is, not what rights naturally belong to man, but how they may be most equally and effectually guarded in society. — Roger Sherman

FORT MOTTE

Here, in early 1781 the British erected palisades and trenches around Rebecca Motte's large new home and required er to move to a cabin on Buckhead Hill.

To save lives the gladly gave metal fire arrows to ignite the roof of her home Marion's cannon fire kept the British from extinguishing the flames and they were compelled to surrender.

Our country is in danger, but not to be despaired of. Our enemies are numerous and powerful; but we have many friends, determining to be free, and heaven and earth will aid the resolution. On you depend the fortunes of America. You are to decide the important question, on which rest the happiness and liberty of millions yet unborn. Act worthy of yourselves.

Educational Outreach at Aiken High School

By Ted Walker, Piedmont Vice President

AIKEN — A Revolutionary War Living History reenactment took place at Aiken High School in honor of the upcoming 250th Anniversary of America's Declaration of Independence in 2026.

This event was organized by Ted Walker, Piedmont Region Vice President and Past President of the Henry Laurens Chapter; Jason A. Holt, Ed.D., Aiken High School Principal; and Andrew McCaskill school liaison.

Sponsors of this event were the Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution and Children of the American Revolution from South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. We also had Liberty Live Southern Campaign 1780 and their educational display teams with living history programs.

Estimates included 800 to 900 students making their way through the various living history displays spread around the school's athletic practice field, manned by re-enactors from South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, to bring such concepts as blacksmithing, artillery and corsets to life as they existed when such locations as Cowpens, Ninety-Six, Battle of Eutaw Springs and Camden became pivotal in the areas history.

Franklin Roosevelt's D-Day Prayer: June 6, 1944

My fellow Americans: Last night, when I spoke with you about the fall of Rome, I knew at that moment that troops of the United States and our allies were crossing the Channel in another and greater operation. It has come to pass with success thus far.

And so, in this poignant hour, I ask you to join with me in prayer:

Almighty God: Our sons, pride of our Nation, this day have set upon a mighty endeavor, a struggle to preserve our Republic, our religion, and our civilization, and to set free a suffering humanity.

Lead them straight and true; give strength to their arms, stoutness to their hearts, steadfastness in their faith.

They will need Thy blessings. Their road will be long and hard. For the enemy is strong. He may hurl back our forces. Success may not come with rushing speed, but we shall return again and again; and we know that by Thy grace, and by the righteousness of our cause, our sons will triumph.

They will be sore tried, by night and by day, without rest-until the victory is won. The darkness will be rent by noise and flame. Men's souls will be shaken with the violences of war.

For these men are lately drawn from the ways of peace. They fight not for the lust of conquest. They fight to end conquest. They fight to liberate. They fight to let justice arise, and tolerance and good will among all Thy people. They yearn but for the end of battle, for their return to the haven of home.

Some will never return. Embrace these, Father, and receive them, Thy heroic servants, into Thy kingdom.

And for us at home — fathers, mothers, children, wives, sisters, and brothers of brave men overseas — whose thoughts and prayers are ever with them — help us, Almighty God, to rededicate ourselves in renewed faith in Thee in this hour of great sacrifice.

Many people have urged that I call the Nation into a single day of special prayer. But because the road is long and the desire is great, I ask that our people devote themselves in a continuance of prayer. As we rise to each new day, and again when each day is spent, let words of prayer be on our lips, invoking Thy help to our efforts....

And, O Lord, give us Faith. Give us Faith in Thee; Faith in our sons; Faith in each other; Faith in our united crusade. Let not the keenness of our spirit ever be dulled. Let not the impacts of temporary events, of temporal matters of but fleeting moment let not these deter us in our unconquerable purpose.

With Thy blessing, we shall prevail over the unholy forces of our enemy. Help us to conquer the apostles of greed and racial arrogancies. Lead us to the saving of our country, and with our sister Nations into a world unity that will spell a sure peace a peace invulnerable to the schemings of unworthy men. And a peace that will let all of men live in freedom, reaping the just rewards of their honest toil.

Thy will be done, Almighty God.

How to submit items to The Palmetto Patriot

The Palmetto Patriot welcomes articles and photos from compatriots in the South Carolina Society.

Here are some pointers.

Keep articles as short as possible while still telling the story. Send articles in Microsoft Word format to Tom.Hanson@HansonCommunications.org

Send digital photographs as attachments and not embedded into the Word document.

Make sure you images are high resolution, at least 200 DPI, and that no time or date stamps appear in the images.

Limit the number of photographs to those you would like most to appear in the publication.

In group shots, have participants drop their hands to their sides to avoid fig leaf poses.

When taking photos at meetings, get as close to the speaker as possible, and avoid shooting the backs of audience heads.

From Eric Barnhill, Gen. Andrew Pickens Chapter: Fill the frame with the subject, unless you are trying to capture a large area (monument, battlefield). Better to get head shots than feet shots. Choose your background carefully. Often it just takes a minute to look around and find a more appropriate background. Watch your lighting. Better to have subjects face the lights (sun for outdoor shots) and be careful of indoor lights, your camera may set the exposure for lights if they are in the shots. Articles are always more interesting when pictures accompany them. Take lots of digital pictures and choose the ones that best capture the subject. Check your spelling, spell check sometimes makes words you don't want.

Please meet the deadlines that are mentioned in each issue of The Palmetto Patriot.

241st Anniversary of Buford's Massacre

By Mandy J. Shaw

28

On May 28, the National Society, the South Carolina Society and the General Francis Marion Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution hosted the 242nd anniversary of the Battle of Waxhaws, better known as Buford's Massacre, at the battle site near Buford's Crossroads about nine miles east of Lancaster, South Carolina.

The event began at 10:30 a.m. with a formal wreath-laying ceremony and guest speakers. Many guests wore period dress, including Continental and Militia attire.

The story of Buford's Massacre was told as the bravery of the Patriots was commemorated and the fallen were honored. Col. Abraham Buford was the commander of a Virginia Regiment of infantry and a company of artillery comprised of about 300 men.

Two hundred forty-two years ago, on May 29, 1780, British Lt. Col. Banastre Tarleton pursued Col. Buford from Nelson's Ferry to Buford near the Waxhaws District. Col. Buford attempted to surrender, but a bloody battle ensued, with American casualties numbering 113 against a handful of British fatalities. Even more were taken prisoner, and 150 of the 187 prisoners were wounded.

Ban," and "Tarleton's Quarter!" became a rallying battle cry for Southern Patriots until the surrender of Gen. Charles Cornwallis at Yorktown.

Compatriot Greg Ohanesian has organized this public commemoration for the last 17 years and noted that this year's event drew more than 170 members of the public and S.A.R., D.A.R. and C.A.R. hailing from many states, and included descendants of those buried at the site.

South Carolina State Senator Michael Johnson, NSSAR Vice President General South Atlantic District Patrick Niemann, SCSSAR President Lawrence Peebles, Virginia State President R. Bruce Meyer, and the SCSDAR Regent Ms. Bonnie Moffat were present and participated.

I am still determined to be cheerful and to be happy in whatever situation I may be, for I have also learnt from experianence that the greater part of our happiness or misary depends upon our dispositions, and not upon our circumstances; we carry the seeds of the one, or the other about with us, in our minds, wherever we go.

Martha Washington

A patriot without religion in my estimation is as great a paradox as an honest Man without the fear of God. Is it possible that he whom no moral obligations bind, can have any real Good Will towards Men?
